Inactive Hazardous Waste Disposal Site Classification Notice

The Inactive Hazardous Waste Disposal Site Program (the State Superfund Program) is the State's program for identifying, investigating, and cleaning up sites where the disposal of hazardous waste may present a threat to public health and/or the environment. The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (Department) maintains a list of these sites in the Registry of Inactive Hazardous Waste Disposal Sites (the "Registry"). The site identified above, and located on a map on the reverse side of this page, was recently reclassified on the Registry as a Class 4 site as it no longer presents a significant threat to public health and/or the environment for the following reason(s):

Hazardous waste disposed at this site was cleaned up under the United States Environmental Protection Agency. The clean-up was achieved by constructing a secure PCB cell in the Richardson Hill Road Landfill, excavation of PCB contaminated sediments from Herrick Hollow Creek and placing the sediments into the secure landfill, constructing a cap over the entire landfill, and constructing and operating a groundwater collection and treatment plant at the site. The cleanup was completed in 2007. The Final Engineering Report confirms that the cleanup was undertaken in a manner consistent with the Record of Decision, which is the decision document that outlines the cleanup methods to be used at the site. Management of contamination remaining at the site, including any required monitoring, is and has been controlled pursuant to a Site Management Plan. An institutional control in the form of a deed restriction has been placed on the property to ensure that the cap is maintained and left undisturbed and that groundwater will not be used for potable water. DEC has determined that the site has been properly closed and no longer presents a significant threat to public health or the environment.

If you own property adjacent to this site and are renting or leasing your property to someone else, please share this information with them. If you no longer wish to be on the contact list for this site or otherwise need to correct our records, please contact the Department's Project Manager listed below.
