Standby Investigation and Remediation Services Contract (C100061)

Dear Mr. Vaccaro:

LiRo Engineers, Inc. (LiRo) has prepared this Town of Chautauqua Municipal Building (TCMB) Field Drainage Discharge Pipe - Flow Monitoring letter report in support of New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYSDEC) remedial investigations of the Village of Mayville Water Supply Contamination within the Village of Mayville, NY (see Figures 1 and 2).

Site Background

Elevated concentrations of the contaminant perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA) have been detected in the public water supply system for the Village of Mayville (the Village). PFNA is a member of the class of contaminants known as per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS). The PFAS family of synthetic fluorinated compounds were mass produced in the United States for decades, dating back to the 1950s. PFAS are used in a wide variety of industrial and commercial applications such as textiles, aqueous film forming foams (AFFF), metal plating, semi-conductors, paper and food packaging, coating additives, cleaning products, pesticides, and personal care products. According to United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA), PFAS compounds pose potential adverse impacts to the environment and human health.

In response to these detections, the NYSDEC initiated an investigation to identify any potential source areas of PFNA. Tasks completed during the preliminary investigation included a site reconnaissance, interviews with locals and Village officials, the installation of six monitoring wells, and the collection and analysis of samples from various environmental media (supply wells, surface water, sediment, groundwater, and surface soils). The investigation was divided into six areas: Morris Street, Patterson Street, Mud Creek, the TCMB, Lakeside Park, and Maple Drive East. The TCMB and Lakeside Park locations were selected and investigated as potential source areas due to the reported use of AFFF at both locations.

Surface water samples collected from the field drainage pipe in the TCMB area (see Figure 2) reported Perfluorooctanoic Acid (i.e., PFOA) and PFNA at concentrations above their guidance values of 10 nanograms per liter (ng/L) at concentrations of up to 210 ng/L and 10,000 ng/L, respectively.

This letter report summarizes atmospheric (i.e., precipitation) and drainage pipe discharge water flow data collected in an effort to provide quantified water flow volumes and rates over time from the TCMB south field drainage pipe (see Figure 2 and Photographic Log in Attachment A) to support possible future PFAS treatment system design.

Drainage Pipe Discharge Flow Monitoring

A 16-inch diameter corrugated steel drainage pipe is located along the south boundary of the TCMB property (i.e., Tax Parcel SBL 262.06-1-23.1) and discharges groundwater collected from former high school athletic fields into an unlined surface water drainage swale. The drainage swale is connected, by overland flow, to the north side drainage ditch of West Chautauqua Street (i.e., Route 430) in the Village of Mayville, NY. During previous project investigations and sampling events, the volume of flow discharging from the drainage pipe was observed to vary greatly based on qualitative visual estimates between no flow (i.e., <0.1 gallon per minute [gpm]) and 100 gpm.

To quantify the flow volumes of water discharging from the pipe and measure the duration of peak flow events, a pipe flow datalogger (i.e., a Greyline MantaRay portable open channel flow monitor [MantaRay]) was deployed and maintained within the drainage pipe from February 8, 2023, to June 1, 2023, (see Attachment B). The MantaRay datalogger uses a submerged ultrasonic sensor to continuously measure both velocity and level in the channel. The ultrasonic sensor mounts inside the pipe or on the bottom of a channel and is completely sealed with no orifices or ports. The sensor is connected to the datalogger unit via a 25-ft long electronic cable that transmits the 4-20mA signal to the onboard persistent electronic memory for conversion to flow rate and depth. The 4-20mA data is converted by the datalogger into height of water column in inches and flow velocity in feet per second. Water temperature data is also measured and recorded.

Electronically Recorded Discharge Pipe Flow Rate Measurements

The MantaRay datalogger was deployed on-site from 10:00 am on February 8, 2023, to 9:15 am on June 1, 2023, with a few data gaps due to unit retrieval for recharging the on-board battery, reprogramming, and troubleshooting.

During deployment, data was collected every five-minutes. A five-minute interval was selected to balance the collection of high density (i.e., minimal time interval between measurements) water level, temperature, and flow velocity data versus the limitations of datalogger battery life and inboard memory capacity.

Between initial deployment of the MantaRay datalogger on February 8, 2023, and the final retrieval on June 1, 2023, there were 32,535 5-minute time intervals available for data collection.

Within that count of available data intervals, there were 22,450 5-minute intervals (i.e., 69% of total available) where data was recorded. Within the recorded data, there were a total of 11,861 5-minute intervals (i.e., 36.5% of total, and 52.8% of recorded) that provided usable (i.e., measurable) electronically recorded flow rates (i.e., >0.02 feet of water above sensor and a measured flow velocity >0.10 feet per second [ft/s], or approximately >3.5 gallons per minute [gpm]).

Time intervals without measurable data were the result of a combination of one or more of the following factors:

- 1) No-flow or very low flow (i.e., <3.5 gpm) within the pipe,
- 2) Insufficient height of water above the level sensor (i.e., <0.02-feet), due to:
  - a. Actual physical low water levels, or
  - b. Apparent low water levels due to excessive turbulence within the corrugated pipe,
- 3) Insufficient flow velocity for velocity sensor (i.e., <0.1 feet per second),
- 4) Limitations of the datalogger memory capacity, and
- 5) Limitations of the datalogger battery capacity.

There was no usable data collected during the 4th deployment (i.e., May 12, 2023, to June 1, 2023), due to insufficient flow in the pipe for datalogger measurement (i.e., all flow was <3.5 gpm).

Atmospheric Data

Atmospheric precipitation, and temperature data was acquired from the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), National Weather Service (NWS), website for the Erie, PA International Airport (NWS Site Code: KERI):

<https://w1.weather.gov/data/obhistory/KERI.html>.

The Atmospheric data provides visual correlation between precipitation events and increases in discharge volumes. A chart of precipitation data is provided in Figure 3. However, due to the distance from the Site, and the subsequent low correlation between recorded precipitation events and observed increases in discharge, an analysis of precipitation volume verses discharge volume was not completed (see Figure 4).

Manual Flow Rate Measurements

In support of datalogger data calibration, manual flow rate measurements were conducted during download events. The time to fill a calibrated 5-gallon bucket and/or a 2-liter graduated cylinder were recorded, as summarized in the table below:

Manual Flow Rate Measurements

Recorded Discharge Pipe Flow Rates

A chart of recorded flow discharge volume over time is provided in Figure 6. Tabulated datalogger recorded data is provided in Attachment C. An analysis of the summarized data is provided in Table 1. It should be noted that the values for average flow for a given Interval Range were calculated based on the entire dataset, and not an average of the upper and lower bounds of the interval. For example, the calculated average flow for the 75 to 50 gpm interval (using all reported/recorded dataset values between 75 and 50 gpm) is 59.1 gpm, not 62.5 gpm (i.e., the average of 75 and 50).

Based on the analysis the following statistics have been calculated.

- A total of approximately 2,539,165 gallons of water were discharged from the drainage pipe as calculated from recorded data. The actual volume of discharge was likely greater due to data gaps.
- Flow rates greater than 100 gpm occurred for less than 2.7% of the recorded time however, they provided approximately 725,033 gallons of discharge, or 28.6% of the total discharge.
- Flow rates between 10 and 100 gpm occurred for approximately 27.9% of the recorded time, and provided approximately 1,459,803 gallons of discharge, or 57.5% of the total discharge.
- Flow rates less than 10 gpm occurred for approximately 69.4% of the recorded time and provided approximately 354,329 gallons of discharge, or 14.0% of the total discharge.
- The 50 to 25 gpm interval range provided the largest single interval net-volume at 641,310 gallons, or approximately 25.3% of total discharge over 12.5% of recorded time.
- Combining the interval ranges from 100 to 25 gpm provides a net-volume of 1,247,852 gallons, or approximately 49.1% of total discharge over 19.0% of recorded time. The calculated average flow, using dataset values from the combined intervals, is 46.6 gpm.

- The net discharge volume for the 4th deployment (i.e., from May 12, 2023, to June 1, 2023, and representing approximately 20.4% of dataset recorded time) as calculated from an assumed linear (i.e., straight line) reduction in discharge based on manual flow measurements (i.e., 1.75 gpm and 0.002 gpm) is approximately 25,127 gallons, or 1.1% of the total volume discharged.
- The average flow rate for the entire recorded dataset is approximately 18.01 gpm.

Notes:

- 1) Duration is the total time flow in (gpm) was within the interval range for the entire dataset.
- 2) Net Volume is average gpm multiplied by duration (total minutes), for each interval range of flow.
- 3) Calculated average of values reported/recorded within the Interval Range of flow.
- 4) Total Minutes excludes data gaps (i.e., only includes time when data was recorded).
- 5) The overall average flow rate for the entire data set is 18.0 gpm.
- 6) gpm = gallons per minute.

Delivering the Measure of Possibility

Pulsar Measurement offers worldwide professional support for all of our products, and our network of global partners all offer full support and training. Our facilities in Malvern, UK and Largo, USA are home to technical support teams who are always available to answer your call or attend your site when required. Our global presence, with direct offices in the UK, USA, Canada, and Malaysia, allows us to create close relationships with our customers and provide service, support, training, and information throughout the lifetime of your product.

By taking a step forward in echo processing technology, Pulsar Measurement addresses applications previously thought to be beyond the scope of ultrasonic measurement. This technology improves signal processing at the transducer head which has made it possible to increase resistance to electrical noise, enabling the transducer to 'zone in' on the true echo.
