Dear Judge McClymonds,

As a business that utilizes CWM Chemical Services, we ask that you and the Siting Board move the expansion process along as quickly as possible!

New York State has a need for hazardous waste disposal and the fact that the Model City facility already has reduced airspace is impacting our business...

New York State cannot allow airspace to run out – forcing businesses to rely on out-of-state facilities. The cost of hazardous waste disposal would then cause an unfair burden to be placed on generators of hazardous waste and those remediating clean-up sites.

PLEASE PERMIT THIS EXPANSION!

Thank you,

Gina Thomas, CHMM

Dear Judge McClymonds and the Siting Board,

I am a Waste Management employee, residing in New York State and I am in favor of the expansion effort of our CWM Chemical Services, Model City facility.

Waste Management is a company committed to offering safe, reliable disposal of waste.

Without this expansion, New York State will be without a hazardous waste disposal facility, sending our customers (and their revenue) out of state for this service. We take pride in our reputation in the waste industry and our commitment to safety and our pledge to being stewards of our environment.

This is an issue that affects all of us in New York State, please give this matter thoughtful consideration and swift resolution.

Here we are AGAIN discussing the expansion issue that the residents have vehemently opposed of time and time again. I wish we would be given a chance to vote on this major issue. As I have stated in the past through written correspondence, there is no benefit to the residents of Lewiston, Porter and other towns affected by this expansion. It is morally wrong and you put all residents at risk when hauling this toxic waste in. I am opposed of this expansion and you should not move forward on this. Ethically that would be the right thing to do. Let all other countries and states figure out how to handle their own mess. We have done our part and then some, so now is the time to do right by the residents of this beautiful area. For once think about the affects and not the all mighty dollar.

Dear Judge McClymonds,

I am a manager of a local environmental office in Western New York. Our firm has many customers who utilize the services of CWM Chemical Services. The delay in approval of the expansion process is impacting our business, the business of my customers, and the local economy.

I personally know over 20 people who are reducing their spending and seeking other employment due to concern over the financial impact these delays are having and the potential devastation a lack of approval would mean.

I personally live in the Town of Lewiston. I can't imagine the negative impact on my community should the Town lose the revenue it receives from the local taxes applied to waste entering CWM. I think many uneducated residents will be shocked in their reduction of services if this expansion is prohibited.

I ask that you and the Siting Board move forward on this process to reduce these impacts in our area.

New York State businesses and residents generate hazardous waste. Therefore, we need a local, reliable, high quality facility like CWM to manage our wastes.

New York State cannot allow airspace to run out – forcing businesses to rely on out-of-state facilities. The cost of hazardous waste disposal would then cause an unfair burden to be placed on generators of hazardous waste and those remediating clean-up sites. In addition, the increased costs would be passed on to consumers who purchase products that had generation of hazardous waste in their production processes.

PLEASE PERMIT THIS EXPANSION!

Please feel free to contact me directly should you have any questions or wish to discuss this further.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Judge McClymonds,

I am with a hauling company that works directly with CWM Chemical Services, and I support the expansion effort.

Many people do not understand the dynamics of a hazardous waste facility or just how many jobs the facility impacts. The hauling company I work for would be negatively affected if the facility were not able to continue operations.

Hopefully, you Judge McClymonds, and the Siting Board will take into consideration all aspects of this expansion, especially the role that CWM plays in the economics of the area, the need for a safe disposal option and the numerous jobs from the facility and hauling companies that would be impacted.

Sincerely,

Honorable Judge McClymonds,

I work for a transportation company located in upstate New York. Our business has been positively affected by the CWM operating facility at Model City, NY for over 20 years.

The economic benefit to our region and the state is often underestimated. This facility impacts not only the transportation companies that utilize the facility but many of the small communities that accommodate the trucking businesses along the way. There are thousands of employees in the small restaurants, at the fuel stops, working in the various service stations, and employed at the thruway rest areas along the way who's jobs are affected by the operation of the CWM facility.

Making the CWM expansion successful not only has local importance but, in addition, it has a regional and state wide economic & employment impact. Hopefully you and the Sitting Board will consider the role CWM plays in the state of NY and support the expansion.

Cordially,

Dear Judge O'Connell,

The New York Farm Bureau (NYFB) and the Niagara County Farm Bureau (NCFB) are requesting that the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) extend the comment period deadline on the proposed RMU-2- landfill- related applications by CWM Chemical Services, LLC. The current comment deadline is October 20, 2014; NYFB and NCFB are requesting that DEC extend the comment deadline to at least January 20, 2015.

DEC is requesting comments on the RMU-2 landfill permit applications during a busy time of the year for farmers. Our members, who would be affected by this proposed regulation, are now in the midst of harvesting their crops. It will be extremely difficult at this time of year to ask farmers to stop what they are doing, to familiarize them with the permit applications, their implications and to ask them to provide us with their analysis and judgment as to its impacts. An extension of the comment period would allow farmers to read the applications and make educated comments.

The proposed RMU-2 landfill application and associated applications is extensive and will affect many of our members directly. The proposed RMU-2 landfill and related items will include the addition of a 43.5 acre landfill as well as waste modified waste storage treatment units. These items will impact road traffic, water quality, and the economic health of Niagara County which will have a direct impact on farmers' profitability.

CWM Chemical Services, LLC has spent over 12 years developing the applications. Due to the sheer amount of documents associated with these applicants, more time is necessary to be able to analyze and develop meaningful comments for DEC.

The proposed RMU-2 hazardous waste- landfill and related items are very complex and have far-ranging impacts on farmers. We strongly request at this time that DEC extend the comment period through January 20, 2015.

Sincerely,

As a business that utilizes CWM Chemical Services, we ask that you and the Siting Board move the expansion process along as quickly as possible!

New York State has a need for hazardous waste disposal and the fact that the Model City facility already has reduced airspace is impacting our business...

New York State cannot allow airspace to run out – forcing businesses to rely on out-of-state facilities. The cost of hazardous waste disposal would then cause an unfair burden to be placed on generators of hazardous waste and those remediating clean-up sites.

Dear Judge McClymonds and the Siting Board,

I am a Waste Management employee, residing in New York State and I am in favor of the expansion effort of our CWM Chemical Services, Model City facility.

Waste Management is a company committed to offering safe, reliable disposal of waste.

Without this expansion, New York State will be without a hazardous waste disposal facility, sending our customers (and their revenue) out of state for this service. We take pride in our reputation in the waste industry and our commitment to safety and our pledge to being stewards of our environment.

This is an issue that affects all of us in New York State, please give this matter thoughtful consideration and swift resolution.

Thank you,
Jennifer Tirado

Dear Judge McClymonds,

As a business that utilizes CWM Chemical Services, we ask that you and the Siting Board move the expansion process along as quickly as possible!

New York State has a need for hazardous waste disposal and the fact that the Model City facility already has reduced airspace is impacting our business...

New York State cannot allow airspace to run out – forcing businesses to rely on out-of-state facilities. The cost of hazardous waste disposal would then cause an unfair burden to be placed on generators of hazardous waste and those remediating clean-up sites.

PLEASE PERMIT THIS EXPANSION!

Thank you,

Subject: proposed CWM expansion

The proposed CWM expansion is a terrible idea. That's why local residents and stakeholders (medical, political, commercial, agricultural, etc.) are arrayed against it. Please listen to our concerns.

It is dangerous. If an accident happens with one of these trucks hauling in this toxic material, it could endanger the health and lives of local residents -- including schoolchildren. People across the nation will be astonished that this was allowed to go on in the first place, let alone expanded. It has the potential to be another Love Canal.

It is damaging. Lewiston is a thriving community, well known for its natural beauty and popular festivals. If this proposal goes through, it may well deter people from moving here. In order for Western New York to become a vibrant economic and cultural region again, we need to attract more educated, entrepreneurial people to move here. I'm originally from Silicon Valley. It's not a perfect place, but I can tell you that folks out there would never allow this kind of proposal to go through.

Sure, there's a different history here. But history isn't destiny. Do you want the future of WNY to be more like Silicon Valley -- or Love Canal?

Dear Judge McClymonds,

As a business that utilizes CWM Chemical Services, we ask that you and the Siting Board move the expansion process along as quickly as possible. While I am not up to speed on the entire process, I do know that Model City has been pursuing an expansion for at least five years. That's simply too long.

New York State has a need for hazardous waste disposal and the fact that the Model City facility already has reduced airspace is impacting our business. As a remediation contractor, we rely on having cost effective options for disposal of hazardous waste in New York State. Additionally, with the recent emphasis on Green Remediation practices, I find it contradictory that we must truck waste several States away and essentially burn more fuel as the trucks drive right past Model City.

New York State cannot allow airspace to run out – forcing businesses to rely on out-of-state facilities. The cost of hazardous waste disposal would then cause an unfair burden to be placed on generators of hazardous waste and those remediating clean-up sites.

PLEASE PERMIT THIS EXPANSION!

Re: CWM Chemical Services, LLC, September 29 letter, re: RMU-2
Application (by Daniel M. Darragh)

Dear Judge McClymonds:

Mr. Darragh's letter is less than straightforward. Although CWM's Part 373 application was initially submitted in 2003, and went through a scoping process in 2006 in which I vigorously participated on behalf of Niagara County, in 2009 CWM proposed to move the footprint of RMU-2, and proposed to move some ancillary facilities, to avoid areas discovered to be contaminated, resulting in a new RMU-2 project application. On February 7, 2012, CWM submitted a revised RMU-2 Permit Application, "updat[ing] the scope and design of the RMU-2 project" and noting that the 2009 application which this submittal updated "replac[ed] in its entirety" the 2003 application. However, no additional scoping was conducted, and thereafter DEC Staff did not provide the new scope for public comment and did not issue any scoping document. The RMU-2 project applications continued to be developed thereafter and were not finalized until November and December of 2013.

Regarding comments on hydrogeological issues I have submitted on behalf of my clients, these were addressed to currently implemented or planned corrective actions. No RMU-2 issues were raised in these submissions, although Mr. Darragh correctly notes, as I did in my letter, some of the underlying factual issues may raise other issues (not yet identified) in the RMU-2 matter.

Also, Mr. Darragh suggests that consideration of the proposed CWM air and SPDES permit modifications are being deferred at this time until decisions on the Part 373 and Part 361 applications are issued. This raises potential concerns regarding fragmentation or segmentation of the decision-making process which, as noted in my letter, might be allayed by a public availability session with Staff to explain why. Whether potential stakeholders will be allowed to raise issues regarding these permits or, if not, whether such issues will be foreclosed by any approvals issued for the (arguably truncated) RMU-2 project is a question raised in my letter.

Also, Mr. Darragh insists that the application and supporting documents noticed for public review in the RMU-2 matter are sufficient to prepare for the issues conference, but this assertion is specifically challenged in my letter, which notes that substantial documentation outside these materials must be reviewed to understand and meaningfully criticize the project proposal. For example, in addition to hydrogeological issues, in recent years Niagara County has submitted to the Department several technical criticisms of the manner in which site radiological contamination has been investigated. In that regard, we have repeatedly pointed out to the Department that a history of radiological and other waste management at this site should be provided by CWM in order to identify locations where contamination is likely to exist. CWM has not done so, the Department has not directed it to do so, and therefore we must assemble, review and present the information available from past aerial surveys of the site, layouts of railroad lines, and other historical documents reporting on the location of past radiological waste management activities. This documentation is extensive and technical, and the need to fully review it is largely unique to this very complicated site and project proposal.

Finally, Mr. Darragh inappropriately attaches a letter from a resident of the Town of Lewiston (the Town clearly opposes the expansion as proposed), essentially attacking the Department's 2010 State Hazardous Waste Facility Siting Plan, which finds there is no need for an expansion of the Model City facility, and makes unsupported assertions about the impact of failing to approve the expansion. The writer works at a branch office of OP-TECH, Inc. which, according to its most recent 10-K filing (SEC No. 000-19761), is a small spill response company with offices in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, owned by a British company, and transports waste into New York from Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Jersey, as well as waste generated within New York. According to the Department's 2010 Hazardous Waste Facility Siting Plan, (p. 5-16), "With one exception [New Hampshire], all of the states located in New England, the Mid-Atlantic, and the Mid-West United States, . . . have at least one receiving [TSD] facility within their boundaries, with an average of 11 facilities per state." The impact of a complete loss of hazardous waste disposal capacity in any given location in New York was considered in the State Siting Plan and determined to be insignificant (p. 9-5). Mr. Darragh's letter attachment thus appears to be designed only to prejudice Your Honor with regard to my request for more time.

Respectfully submitted,

Gary A. Abraham
